If your computer is infected with malware or spyware, Malware Scanner may be able to help. Malware Scanner scans your whole computer for over 130,000 real targeted definitions, and scans the memory for everything it finds, without the need for reboot or boot time, just one click. With Malware Scanner, you can scan the entire computer including the Windows registry, program files, services, web browser, email client, and more, and it is able to search for and identify the threats that are currently affecting your computer and removes the most persistent ones. The power and fast scanning speed of Malware Scanner can safely remove malware and spyware that cannot be removed by other security programs. Malware Scanner is able to identify the malicious files, modules, and registry keys that cause problems and stops them from infecting your computer in the future. Malware Scanner is a free program that you can use to scan your entire computer without impacting your work, and it is able to provide you with a report detailing what malware or spyware was found on your computer and what actions you need to take to get rid of them. The Malware Scanner uses a combination of heuristic and Ntoskrnl.exe driver level checks to detect, isolate, and delete malware in a way that is imperceptible to the computer. Malware Scanner is able to identify the malicious files, modules, and registry keys that cause problems and stops them from infecting your computer in the future. Malware Scanner uses a white-list database of the most frequently encountered definitions that are used by the program to improve the scanning speed and accuracy of the Malware Scanner. The following features of the Malware Scanner are a part of the Malware Scanner's performance, speed, and stability: Prevent Malware - The Malware Scanner can protect your computer from new malware attacks. The Malware

Scanner installs a database of the most frequent threats that are used to update the definitions database. The Malware Scanner uses this database to prevent malware, spyware, and adware attacks that use the same files as the program definitions. This means that you can be 100% sure that the malware scanner will detect and remove any new malware that may attempt to infect your computer.

Disk Cleanup - The Malware Scanner can scan and remove duplicate files and temporary files that are not being used by your computer. The Malware Scanner scans for hidden files, including temporary files that may not be used anymore, or may be used by a program that is not being used by the computer right now.

Memory Cleanup - The Malware Scanner is able to clean and remove all the information left by programs that are not being used by the computer at the moment. This information may include extra files that are being used by a program that is not being used right
